

Dear all!

Last Sunday, I went to the park and see the Ume Tree.

“Ume” is a Japanese Plum. It makes a very pretty flower bloom.

I think that spring is on its way! ☺

Today, I will tell you about one of Japanese culture.

“HINAMATSURI”

March 3rd is a special day in Japan; it’s the day of the “HINAMATSURI”.

It means Girls’ Festival. On this day, girls are celebrated and families pray for their health and prosperity. It’s also called “Momo-no-Sekku” or Peach festival.

Most families with girls display dolls called “Hina-ningyo”.

Long ago, people threw paper dolls into rivers and in the sea to drive away evil spirits with them. People began displaying dolls in the Edo period. (1603-1863)

Today, we eat traditional dishes like Chirashi Sushi and clam soup for the Girls’ Festival.

“Kizu-non sheet” and “Mobiron sheet” that we introduced last time, we received great popularity and Flooded the order!!! Please do not miss the chance of your purchase!!!!
